| International Philosophy | The practice and business of law is global and ALA welcomes the engagement of legal management professionals from all parts of the world interested in advancing the profession. We also recognize that the needs, interests, markets, laws, cultures and languages of legal management professionals from various countries can be unique. To best serve these varied interests, ALA provides collaborative and consultative support to legal management professionals seeking to advance the business of law in their home countries. Among the ways we do this are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Providing advice and consultation to non-U.S. legal management professionals seeking to develop in-country professional networks.</li><li>• Sharing relevant legal management resources, such as Legal Management articles, white papers, podcasts, and other materials (in English). ALA will grant permission to have the materials translated by the recipient.</li><li>• Offering guidance and tools to establish local legal management associations.</li><li>• Supporting online communication and engagement through LinkedIn groups and online communities.</li><li>• Creating supportive alliances with other professional legal management organizations (such as ALPMA, TLOMA, BCLMA). Such alliances can include offering member rates for products and services, content sharing, collaboration on best practices, etc.</li><li>• Encouraging membership in ALA, as practicable.</li></ul> |
