

Help Raise the Bar of the Legal Management Profession ... Become a CLM Ambassador

Now that you've earned your CLM designation, have you ever wondered what it would have been like if you had someone who had successfully gone through the process to help answer your questions and provide some encouragement along the way?

Or maybe you were one of the lucky ones who had someone who took you under his/her wing and guided you through the experience. But there will always remain those who are not so lucky, and facing the prospect of going it alone, they feel quite isolated and/or unsure about pursuing the CLM designation. They need your guidance.

As one who has already helped raise the bar of the legal management profession, we'd like you to consider fulfilling the role of "CLM Ambassador."

First step: Wearing your "Got CLM?" pin. By proudly wearing this pin (at ALA conferences, chapter meetings and other events) you identify yourself as someone who is approachable and open to sharing your knowledge and experience. To request a "Got CLM?" pin, contact Sue Powers [spowers@alanet.org].

Second step: As a "CLM Ambassador" we also ask that you encourage others, including colleagues, chapter members, mentees, etc., to begin the journey and to start reaping the benefits of being a CLM.

Third step: We want to hear from you regarding the response to the pin, and what questions you've received. If people need more detailed information, please refer them to Sue Powers, spowers@alanet.org or to me at pstong@alanet.org.

Thank you for all your help!
